COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES

Positive (1 only)	Comparative (1 out of 2)	Superlative (more than 2)
old	older - My sister is older than my dog.	oldest [in the family]
good	better - My sister is good, but I'm better.	best [and my mother is the best]
comfortable	more comfortable	most comfortable [of the lot]

6. PREPOSITIONS show a relationship between a noun or a pronoun and the rest of a sentence

Prepositions are said to 'govern' the nouns or pronouns that follow them.

Examples: above, against, below, by, between, into, in, near, on, over, under.

Jamilah's book is under the table.

The preposition under governs the noun table.

Janelle threw her toy into the river.

The preposition into governs the noun river.

Ethan pushed against the door until it opened.

The preposition against governs the noun door.

Susana lived above the expensive flower shop.

The preposition above governs the noun shop.

4. VERBS express an action, state or a condition in a sentence

Finite verb is one that can be used with a subject to make a tense.
I walked to school yesterday. We watched the cricket match together.

Non-finite verb cannot be used with a subject to make a verb tense
Knitting is very relaxing. Swimming keeps you fit. (Gerund)*

Infinitive is the 'to' form of a verb and is a special form of the non-finite verb. to sing, to dance, to run, to walk, to swim, to write.

Transitive verb is one that can have an object. The action of the verb is passed on to a person or thing — a direct object.
The boy kicked the ball. He broke the camera.
Transitive verbs: kicked and broke Objects: ball and camera

Intransitive verb does not pass the action of the verb on to a person or thing. His wife just looked and smiled. People laughed. Jesus wept.

Note the verb 'to lay' is always transitive. It means to place or put something somewhere, and, being transitive, it always takes an object.
My chicken lays two eggs every day. I laid my cards on the table.

The verb 'to lie' is always intransitive. It means to be at rest—no action.
I lie down to rest in my hammock after lunch.
My beautician lies with such sincerity. (She does not tell the truth!)

Active Voice is when the subject of the verb does the action.
The children broke the door. Mark kicked the ball.

Passive Voice is when the subject is affected by the action.
The door was broken by the children. The ball was kicked by Mark.

Participles are forms of the verb ending in -ing for the present participle and -ed for past participle. Participles can be used as adjectives in a sentence. I am washing my dog. The word washing is used as a verb. My mother bought a new washing machine.
The word washing is used here as a descriptive adjective.

Gerunds are also known as verbal nouns and, like participles, are formed by adding -ing to the verb. Gerunds can then act as subjects or objects.
I love walking. My grandmother enjoys singing. I loathe smoking.

Auxiliary Verbs – can, could, do, may, might, ought, used to.

Examples: Can I take your dog, Grippa, for a walk to the park?
Susana could sing as well as dance.
Do you know the Eight Parts of Speech, my dear?
May I have the pleasure of dancing with you?
I might go to the party with Hannah.
Michael ought to look for another job in the hospital.
I used to design pencil sharpeners before I became famous.*

5. ADVERBS qualify or modify verbs, adjectives or other adverbs

Adverb modifying a verb
Tony jumped quickly over the fence when he saw the bull charging.
The adverb quickly modifies the verb jumped.

Adverb modifying an adjective
Shanika is a very clever girl and strives to excel in all she does.
The adverb very modifies the adjective clever.

Adverb modifying another adverb
Rachel danced extremely well, despite her crab-footed partner.
The adverb extremely modifies the adverb well.

KINDS OF ADVERBS

TIME	The children departed for Spain yesterday.
PLACE	They put the anvil here for you, darling.
MANNER	Simon spoke cheerfully about his new school.
DEGREE	My teacher, Miss Perkins, was rather pleased with me.
REASON	Why did the princesses annoy that spider, Daddy?
CONDITION	I will leave, if you buy drinks for the Joneses.
CONCESSION	Though John is late, I will continue to wait for him.
FREQUENCY	I always send flowers to my mother for her birthday.

COMPARISON OF ADVERBS
Positive	Comparative	Superlative
hard	harder	hardest
quickly	more quickly	most quickly
badly	worse	worst

SENTENCE STRUCTURE

Every sentence contains two basic parts: Subject and Predicate.
The subject is the person who performs the action. The subject can also be a thing.
The predicate describes the action by the subject, denoted by the effect of the verb.
The boys played football after school.
Subject: The boys Predicate: played football after school

Types of Sentences: 1. Simple 2. Compound 3. Complex

1. Simple Sentences can be a statement, a question, a command or an exclamation.
Statement: I like that dog.
Question: Can you tell me if that dog is trained?
Command: Be careful with that dog.
Exclamation: Run, he's behind you!

2. Compound Sentences consist of two or more simple sentences joined together by a co-ordinating conjunction.
My friend, Janelle, visited me today and we went shopping.

3. Complex Sentences contain one main clause and one or more subordinate clause.
The boy who had the accident went to hospital.
Main clause: The boy went to hospital. Subordinate clause: who had the accident

7. CONJUNCTIONS join words, phrases and sentences together

There are two kinds of Conjunctions: Co-ordinating and Subordinating
Co-ordinating: and, but, or, for, yet My father and I went fishing.
Subordinating: as, because, if, since We left because it was too late.

Present/Past tense of the verbs to lay (to place or put down) and to lie (to be at rest)

Present tense		Past tense		Present tense		Past tense
I	lay	I	laid	I	lie	I	lay
you	lay	you	laid	you	lie	you	lay
he	lays	she	laid	he	lies	she	lay
we	lay	we	laid	we	lie	we	lay

8. INTERJECTIONS are words used to express surprise, delight and other emotions

Examples: Help! Hello! Cheers! Rubbish! Bravo! Well done! Encore! Oh! Goal! Yikes!

PUNCTUATION

Full Stop (.) or period indicates the end of a complete sentence and is also used after abbreviations (e.g. for example i.e. in other words etc. and so forth).
I am loath to paint. Flinty McQwerty is such a cad. He arrived at 4 p.m. for lunch.

Colon (:) is used to introduce a list, explain a previous clause or introduce a quotation.
You will require the following tools: a spoke shave, a Bradawl and a plumb bob.

Semicolon (;) is used to join independent parts (clauses) of a sentence. It can also introduce a list of items. Use a comma to separate short clauses. Dogs run, cats stroll. Valerie did not speak; she just glared at Brendan. I love cricket; my sister hates it.

Comma (,) is used to separate or enclose parts of a sentence. It can also be used to write a list of items. Note the non-defining clauses enclosed with commas in the sentence below.
My sister, who loves donkeys, got married today. Flinty was born, so he claims, at sea. Ryan's house is painted red, white, and blue. My Mum loves snook, snuff and snugs.

Question mark (?) is used for all direct questions.
How much did you pay for that donkey? How can you tell a dog's age, Mummy?
There is no question mark in reported or indirect questions.
I wonder how much Sean paid for that donkey. I often think what might have been.

Exclamation mark (!) can be used to express a strong emotion or a sharp comment.
Fire! Stop! Wait! Help! You idiot! Yes! No! Look out! Yikes! Here we go! Jump! Get out!

Quotation marks (" ") or inverted commas indicate words spoken in the text.
"It's not serious," she said, "but he'll never walk again." I sighed, "Do you mind?"
"We all make mistakes," father said, "but you seem to specialise in them!"
"There's a place called 'Stop'," the judge told Flinty, "and you're going there for two years."

Apostrophe (') is used to show possession or ownership of nouns and contracted words.
Jamilah's birthday. Thomas's bicycle. The doctor's surgery. The doctors' surgeries. [plural]
The apostrophe can also indicate an omitted letter in a word, when that word is contracted.
I don't know him. It's [it is] very hot today. Sorry to hear you're leaving. Here's Johnny!

Parentheses () can be used to mark out a comment or explanation from the rest of the text.
I tried to daydream (as you do), but my mind kept wandering.
My sister's autobiography (listed as fiction), is a bestseller in the bookshops!
